

You know what? We think 'Women Workplace Worries' Shouldn't Be a Thing.

Here, It's Definitely Not. If you haven't heard the phrase "Working Dad" lately, then you might get where we're coming from.

Hi, we're professionals who happen to be women. Some of us also happen to be Moms. Because of this, society tends to refer to us as Working Women, or Working Moms, but here at Viamark, we're simply called "Team Members."

Imagine that.

Most of us have been here for well over a decade, and we tend to rule this place. Not because we're women... because we're good at what we do. Want to join us? We're looking for a few good Team Members. Don't worry about equal-pay issues, not a problem here (*sigh* that we even have to write that), plus we're structured to be more lifestyle-career oriented, so striking a balance is easy. Or at least, easier.

Sincerely,

Team members